

MOBILE ENGINE PERFORMANCE DEMONSTRATION UNIT

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An engine mounted for mobile movement. The engine has associated therewith aftermarket apparatus which can be switched in and out of operation with respect to the engine. Various sensors sense respective engine operating parameters which are displayed on visual displays. Observers can thus visually see the difference in operation of the engine with the aftermarket switched into operation, and switched out of operation.